ITS is a "Software and System House" born in 1994 and specialised in information system engineering, integration and development. The quality of services and products represent the key features of its prestigious goals: high technology, staff growth and constant increase of Customers.

A widespread and detailed internal system of quality control and ongoing research activities, in association with Universities and Research Institutes, allows ITS to operate at forefront technical levels.
ITS participates in many projects, providing innovative solutions in the field of broadband communication and localization for the following customers: European Space Agency (ESA), Italian Space Agency (ASI), Ministry of Research (MIUR).

By investing in a Software Production Center in Torre Annunziata (Napoli, Italia) and in a Telecommunication Service Center in Torre del Greco (Napoli, Italia), ITS meant to realize a technological pole with international relevance.

By means of agreements with major telecommunication organisations, today ITS is able to provide solutions in:

- Location Based Services (e.g. Fleet Management)
- Multi-channel Contact Centre
- Broad-band interactive communication services

ITS also handles all of the most sophisticated services demanded by the system and network management market.
